When: 20th - 24th June 2016

I. CALL

This is an open call for applications to partake in The Shifting Place. Aesthetic, spatial and temporal fractures of transitional territories, a weekly residential module conceived for Cittadellarte - Fondazione Pistoletto by Giusy Checola within the frame of the European project Understanding Territoriality: Identity, Place & Possession (TIPP) and developed under the umbrella of UNIDEE - University of Ideas (directed by Cecilia Guida and developed in collaboration with Juan Esteban Sandoval, within the general direction of Cittadellarte's director Paolo Naldini).

MODULE OUTLINE

In continuity with the first TIPP residency at Cittadellarte, run within the frame of UNIDEE 2015 entitled Creating Territorialities, this second residency titled The Shifting Place aims at investigating the aesthetic, spatial and temporal fractures of transition territorial processes, both in local and transnational, private and common, material and immaterial dimensions.

The Creating Territorialities programme considered territoriality as a possibility of working on the evolution of human life and on the place as a process of co-evolution; on the interrelated transformation of societies and territories; and on the co-presence of the local and the global in our daily life. This is in opposition to the concepts of territorialisation, de-territorialisation and reterritorialization as forms of cultural, social and spatial control that can be actualized exclusively by mankind, in order to transform and dominate the territories.

The concept of locality that the project Understanding Territorialities addresses is that of a “territory we feel most connected to emotionally”, a connection which is “often exploited by Eurosceptic and nationalist arguments but often neglected as a subject for discussion by Europhiles”. At the same time, the renewed and widespread attention to the “local”, as a place that gives life, as origin, as individual and collective heritage, and as a battleground, creates forms of delocalisation and relocalisation of values and imaginary meanings given to places, as well as forms of strengthening or destabilization of forms of expression, narration or representation of the dominant territorial identities.

As well as the discussions held during Creating Territorialities, this second week residency module will also establish interactions with locals through their ways of telling stories about “their” own territory, considering people as fundamental tools for revealing some of the evident and hidden, dominant or specific forms and processes of the Biellese territorialities.

Together with the editorial staff of the web newspaper “Italia che cambia” and the “Biellese in Transition” Association, one will explore, experience, investigate and formulate proposals about how artivators could create and activate shifting visions and processes between the paths, the places and the paradoxes raised by practical and theoretical elaboration of issues such as permaculture, resilience, bioregion and transnational social changing, between current forms of border thinking and the necessary self-alteration of local communities, societies and their own territorialities.

MENTOR'S BIOGRAPHY

Giusy Checola (1973, IT) is scholar and curator of artistic-interdisciplinary projects mainly focused on the relation between art and public sphere. Her current research focuses on artist-led place-making in relation to disciplines such as cultural geography and geophilosophy, mainly in Euro-Mediterranean and Southern areas; on the creation of cultural conditions which encourage the artistic intervention as reterritorializing acts; on cultural, social and political effects produced by the relationship between art, publicness and territory. Founder of the platform and archive Archiviazioni (Southern Italy), she is part of the curatorial board of SoutHeritage Foundation (Matera, Italy), member of the experts committee of Roberto Cimetta Fund (Paris, France), researcher for IPA (Institute for Public Art, US and China) and PhD candidate at Doctoral School EDESTA (Esthétique, Science et Technologies des Arts) at University Paris VIII Vincennes Saint-Denis (France) and at Doctorate Interculture and International Cooperation at University of Bergamo (Italy).

II. ABOUT TIPP

Understanding Territoriality: Identity, Place & Possession (TIPP) is a project aiming to generate discourse on how tensions between the personal, the local and the general are threatening the sustainability of the nation states and the European Union. Its main objective is that of engaging diverse audiences, - above all those not normally involved in such debates - in the investigation and understanding of territoriality.

Understanding Territoriality: Identity, Place & Possession (TIPP) is a project co-funded by the Creative Europe Programme of the European Union, and produced in partnership by Fabrica (UK, <http://fabrica.org.uk>), Netwerk (Belgium, <http://www.netwerk-art.be/en>), Otvorena Soba (Macedonia, <http://www.publicroom.org/index.html>) and Cittadellarte - Fondazione Pistoletto (Italy, <http://www.cittadellarte.it>).

III. ABOUT UNIDEE - University of Ideas

UNIDEE - University of Ideas launched in 2015 – within the unique and special context of Cittadellarte - Fondazione Pistoletto in Biella – the experimentation of an educational programme investigating the relationship between art and the public sphere and combining theory with practice.

UNIDEE - University of Ideas offers an educational programme based on a weekly research and project laboratory under the guidance of a mentor, who is an expert in the theme of that specific module, and the active participation of a guest. Through residential dynamics UNIDEE is designed to form artivators, people who intend to use art as a methodology, practice and language, becoming agents for the activation of responsible actions and processes in the territories in which they live and carry out their professional activities. In 2016 the programme is based on a close examination of three macro-topics: research, gift and alteration.

The structure of UNIDEE - University of Ideas is articulated through four types of activities, investigating the relationship between art and public sphere:

- Weekly residential modules taking place at Cittadellarte, open to students (who can gain ECTS credits), professionals, activists as well as members of society. They are held by mentors who are experts on the three broad thematic areas chosen each year and examined in depth through participatory practices and a multidisciplinary approach.
- Seminar modules taking place at Cittadellarte and/ or at external partner centres.
- Residency programmes for international artists at Cittadellarte.
- Connective Residency at Cittadellarte.
